welcome

Antonia Shuttleworth
Blitz Editor
blitzeditor@arc.unsw.edu.au

Welcome aboard muffins! I'm Antonia and I'll be your captain for this voyage. While my name is Italian I'm nothing like the captain of a certain ill-fated cruise liner... I won't let you be drowned by the assessments and assnats that you'll encounter at uni. This is my 6th year at UNSW and my 22nd year of being a know-it-all, so sit back and relax, you're in capable hands...

By choosing firstly to come to UNSW, and secondly to read Blitz (seriously, well played) you're already in the top percentile of our student population. You, my new BFF, are exactly the kind of person I want reading about the cool kids from The Jungle Giants and San Sisco, the hotties from the Cheerleading Society and hearing what our elite staff did over summer.

While you're at it check out our weekly puzzles, comps, reviews, and our world famous What's On Guide for cheap and cheerful adventures on campus and around Sydney.

If you keep up with your classes, Blitz will keep you up with the fun. You like? Tell me about your feelings. Bon voyage, baby!

Natalie Karam
Chair @ Arc
chair@arc.unsw.edu.au

I still remember my first year at uni - I got involved with everything! Clubs and societies, Roundhouse parties, skipping 9am lectures... the list goes on! Now, I'm in my final year of Law, and hope to share with you eager beavers some pearls of wisdom about Arc over the next few months.

So for those of you who don't know me, I'm Nat and I'm the Chair of the Board - I'm the student spokesperson for Arc and run the Board, which has nine student directors on it. Over the summer, the Board have been busy bees. We have been working on our game plan for this year's membership model, consulting with the big guys up in the Chancellery and reviewing our performance as a Board.

We want to make your experience at UNSW the best it can be. I'll be right here next to the Table of Contents each week in Blitz, so take down my email and let me know what you want, hate and dream of (related to UNSW of course)

SURVIVING 1st YEAR

STARTING UNI IS LIKE BEING BORN AGAIN - EXCEPT YOU'RE THIRSTING FOR ALCOHOL RATHER THAN BREASTMILK

Wassup baby? And by 'baby' I do mean baby, because right now, in this moment, you are potentially the cutest, youngest and most confused kids on campus. While you may not be screaming and covered in blood, right now you do exhibit the traits of a newborn. You have no sense of direction ("Where the fuck is the Lecture Room AP?"), you don't speak the language ("What the heck is Oxford reference?"), and you can barely walk ("Whyyyyyy is Mein Walkway so f---ing long?"). Let's face it, you're in need of a bit of parental advice.

We at Bitz are now your parents - well, maybe your cool, slightly crazy aunt or uncle. We're here to guide you, to nurture you, and to make sure you get the best out of your time at UNSW. A message is released every Monday filled with reviews, corps, giveaways and our wondrous fabulous What's On Guide, so we're the only reading thing about having a crappy timetable with Monday classes. Instead of missing your first class, taking a pic of your first scribble and writing down your first word we will be filming you budding a move at uni parties, taking happy snaps of you at Octoberfest and writing down your hilarious quotes for Yacapa each week in the mag.

Now that we've established our relationship, let's have a family meeting and you can hear from the people in the know about how to survive your first year...

DO:

- STRIKE UP CONVERSATIONS WITH RANDOMS: If they're into foxy/whiny Birds-back wine, great. If not, you can always ditch them by spontaneously forgetting the English language.
- PRIORITISE UNI WORK: And by this I mean to say that an extra hour's sleep is definitely more important than that 8am lecture Peter decided to first, year.
- CHALLENGE YOURSELF: Think you can't finish that fourth schooner? Think again! Compete! Post-live affirmation can achieve anything.
- PRETEND YOU KNOW MORE THAN YOU DO: As long you're absolutely certain the person you're talking to knows less than you do.
- CAMP ON CAMPUS: A lot of students go straight to class then straight back home again. This is super lame and uncool - you may as well be doing your degree online. Good haunts include the Beer Garden, the Village Green (aka the VG, where amazing couples dominate) and the Island Lady Lewis (Booze!). Please note that hanging out at the Library DOES NOT COUNT.

DON'T:

- HOLD IT IN: Uni parties are a time of joy, exuberance, fresher madness, declarations of love and very often, vomit. Bacter out than in I say.
- JOIN EVERY SINGLE CLUB YOU FANCY: If you spread yourself too thin, you'll lose your delicious creamy consistency - just pick one or two clubs that really tickle your fancy.
- SPEND ALL YOUR LUNCH MONEY ON LUNCH: Find the cheapest food on campus and save the rest of your dough for the final markets/happy hour/coffee Batten yet, BNO.
- BE THAT GUY/GIRL: You know the one, the grease that hits on anything with two tits and a pulse, or the over-emotional chick crying in the bathroom at parties. Chill out. Lose the drama - this isn't high school, kiddo.
- GET STUCK IN A DEGREE YOU HATE: First-year is a time to test the waters, so if you feel like sticking a fork in a socket every time you go to class, maybe it's time to rethink your career path.

Keep up to date with information about reservations, recalls, overdue items and fines by opting in at library.unsw.edu.au to receive your library notifications straight to your phone.

THUMBS UP

FIVE REASONS WHY UNSW IS BETTER THAN USYD

• Henry Cornwell

Way fewer hipsters/young Liberals/North Shore people to put up with. And the ones we do have are the exception to the rule.

Our campus is so small and well laid out that even philosophy students can find their way around. It's commonly thought that image-conscious Usyd kids spend all their time at cafés with names like 'Taste' and 'Carnivale' because they think it's hip - however it's actually because they can't find their way to class.

UNSW is on a hill. This is great for your calves.

Contrary to the spirit of this article, we feel less obliged to tell everybody that we meet how much better we are. This makes us better people.

Two simple, very compelling words: DIY Timetable. Those suckers at Usyd have to line up for a whole day - if not two - to organise their enrolment and timetables. We can smash it out from bed on myunsw, then create the über awesome timetable via mahler.cse.unsw.edu.au/rectangles, a little invention by our very own Computer Science students.

SCHOOLS OUT FOR SUMMER

Blitz caught up with some UNSW students and staff to hear how they spent their summer break. We're feeling pretty jelly right now.

MICHELLE LANGFORD

Senior Lecturer - Postgraduate Research Co-ordinator, School of the Arts and Media

What was the best christmas present you received?

My made-to-measure cashmere coat (as pictured), made for me by a tailor in Shanghai in 24 hours at a very decent price!

Was there a project you were working on that took you adventuring around Australia or the world?

I spent 6 weeks travelling around the South of Spain, Tangier, London and Berlin (via Shanghai and Singapore). This was purely a holiday, a great way of de-stressing after a very busy year as Postgraduate Coordinator for my School. It was a great adventure that took us to some of the great architectural buildings of the Muslim Spain and the re-conquista.

NATALIE KARAM

Arc Chair and Arts/Law student

What was the best christmas present you received? While I received a few presses, the best was the £5 gift I received in Santa Grab - a bottle of Chambord! The friends around me made it all the better!

Was there a project you were working on that took you adventuring around Australia or the world?

Does 16 flights in 2 months count? I was doing an internship at a law firm in London with a whistle stop trip to Canberra halfway through (I met Julia!), and then caught up with some other UNSW people (and 2000 other students from around the globe) at the World Universities Debating Championships in Manli!

HENRY CORNWELL

Blitz Reporter and Arts/Law student

What was the best Christmas present you received? Christmas was pretty quiet, but for my birthday I got a new bike. Thanks Daddy.

Did you make any New Year's resolutions?

Not to make unachievable commitments...

What madness did you get up to over the summer break?

I visited East Timor and hung out in the hills for a little while. Then I did some island hopping before heading back to Dili to arm-wrestle the President. A few days before I came home I caught dengue fever so since then I've just been taking it easy.

DR MALCOLM RYAN

Research Fellow, CSE

Was there a project you were working on that took you adventuring around Australia or the world?

I took part in Game Jam Sydney. It's a big computer game development jam which took place at Rosehill Racecourse on Jan 27-29. Over a hundred game designers, developers, artists, musicians and others got together in teams and spent 48 hours making computer games. I formed a team with an artist, Wayne Pätzler, and we made a game called 'Möbius'. I won the jammer's choice award and I got one of the coveted 'Golden Jammy' awards.

Did you miss UNSW?

I can't say I missed UNSW at all -- I really didn't get away from the place long enough to miss it.

THE KIDS ARE ALRIGHT

SAN CISCO & THE JUNGLE GIANTS

BLITZ TALKS BEACH PARTIES, ROAD TRIPS AND FRIENDLY RIVALRY WITH NICK GARDNER FROM SAN CISCO AND SAM HALES FROM THE JUNGLE GIANTS.

You think it's hard getting your annual work? Or maybe it's compressing your timetable that's a struggle? "I'm too young for that!" you start to think to yourself... well hold on a sec there, frenzies! Try planning a national tour, or dealing with the pushy needs - all while remembering you've got an EP out soon that needs finalizing and your dad's on your back about not returning mum's calls.

For teenage Fremantle foursome San Cisco and Broome-based The Jungle Giants, this is a reality. To put this into perspective, you know you're a young band when you get asked for ID at the venue you're about to perform in. Currently travelling together on their 'Policy Against' tour, both bands are promoting the release of their second EPs.

San Cisco come into the tour pushing themselves after their latest single, 'Awkward' (also the name of their new EP which has just gone down in Australia) reached a staggering number 47 in Triple J's Hottest 100 for 2011. Blitz was lucky enough to speak to bassist Nick Gardner, who modestly claims it was a surreal surprise. "We were in the studio when we got a call saying we'd be coming up [on the countdown] but didn't expect to chart that high!"

The track, a bouncy collaboration between lead singer Jordi Davidson and drummer Stuart Stavers, tells the tale of a miscommunication - the relationship one that Nick was quick to brand as "totally fictional". Yeah right!

The release also features four more songs that show off the groups' musical prowess, as well as the lyrical and vocal abilities of lead man Jordi. "Pocket Ship" will have you jumping and singing along, while closing piece 'Revelation' explores the band's growth, with challenging lyrics that, they only have the one funky vibe to offer.

Meanwhile, Quilbin and contingent The Jungle Giants are also on a high after having an epic rock 'n' roll week New Year's Eve and finishing up their second EP, Lead singer and songwriter Sam Hales spoke exclusively of the night's exploits. "We actually had two gigs, we did Broome's Boutique Festival then got 200 bright in the car, drove up the coast and played at Mosquito's Beach Party, where we followed the odds-reeky garage duo. We didn't know what to expect, but it turned out to be one of the most amazing nights." Sure beats a glass of bubbly with mum and dad at 11.25pm.

Sam says their sophomore EP is "more mature in terms of songwriting, but the vibe is still fun and energetic". The record is set to release their new coming-outy baby song, 'No One Needs to Know', which is sure to bring as much triple J airtime as their recent debut single, 'McPolar'.

However one of the sweet parts of the Policy Against tour has probably been that both bands have become buddies from travelling together which may lead to some pretty amazing collaborations in the future. Sam was quick to jokingly explain the first time the bands met. "I was in Tasmania, it was hectic. Walker and I were playing each other in soccer - [and] totally smashed San Cisco."

Be sure to check these guys out early so you can say you know them when they were just those little indie hipster kids from down the street. San Cisco have just launched their Pocket Ship Tour and will be hitting the Brown in the Moo festival circuit in April and May.

BETTER THAN STUDYING: WHAT'S ON UNSW

BEACH HOUSE

Start of Session Party

If you've read the magazine this far, you've discovered that the moral of the UNSW story is: Work hard, play hard.

However, just because you haven't done any work this week because it's only week 1, doesn't mean you shouldn't still go hard. This is the bit for those people, and for a lot of you who were away/leaving/old during O-Week, our Beach House extravaganza will be your cherry-gappas-on-a-party, dancing the day, there'll be a giant water slide, a dunk tank, a ghetto bar and fired Ball Djs - then let the dancing begin after the sun goes down.

Blitz, of course, will be sneaking class at all.

Things to remember: Student Card, Driver's License and, for girls, some tissues for when the toilet paper runs out.

Things to forget: That you have class on Friday... or maybe that you have any class at all.

WHEN: Thurs, Mar 1

WHERE: Grassy Knoll 1-6pm / Roundhouse from 5pm

PRICE: Free til 8pm, Then: $5 for Arc members, $10 for UNSW students/staff & $15 for everyone else

MAELO RUIZ @ ROUNDHOUSE

Enrique Iglesias eat your heart out

WHEN: Saturday, 3 March

WHERE: Roundhouse

PRICE: $49+bf from Ticketek.

WIN a Double Pass - email blitz@arc.unsw.edu.au with 'Maelo Ruiz' in the subject line and tell us a country that borders Puerto Rico.

Just back from South America and having Sydney? Come see Latin heart throb Maelo Ruiz! Just close your eyes and you'll be back where mahama was the answer to every question.

Still not over Patrick Swane's death? Come along for a night of Dirty Dancing in the evening (lots of beats of the best thing to come out of Puerto Rico since the Storms from West Side Story, Maelo Ruiz is more than just a man with an epic musical). While he's technically from New York, his soul is infused with Latin passion and seeing him is an experience not to be missed. Soles on down to catch Maelo performing his greatest hits: 'Queen', 'Volver'.

MIDSUMMER

It may have been a crappy Australian summer, but Midsummer gets temperatures rising...

...Tahlia Sanders.

Written by Scottish playwright David Greig and Gordon McIntyre of Scottish indie band, Balboy, Midsummer is a play with songs! Chronicles the wild and reckless weekend that unfolds after Bob (Matthew Piggeon) and Helena (Cora Bissett) have a wine-fuelled one night stand. Bob, a petty criminal and aspiring poet with no defining features, and Helena, a steely yet vulnerable divorce lawyer with no sense of sentimentality seemingly have nothing in common besides the crippling dread that comes with turning thirty five and having achieved none of your life goals. However, a chance re-encounter the morning after allows the pair to avoid their troubles through a chaotic yet hilarious adventure spending £15,000 of hot cash around the rain-soaked city of Edinburgh.

A fresh and witty spin on the Hollywood rom-com formula, Sydney Theatre Company's production of Midsummer is engaging, reliable and exuberantly funny. The scenes are short and bawdier, the interior monologues quick-witted and truthful, and the acoustic indie songs that pepper the play fit in, as the title explains, just a play with songs, and by no means a musical are a cohesive addition, adding another layer of insight to the soul-searching that comes with Bob and Helena's hungover exploits.

Brett Whiteley | Views of Sydney works on paper from the 1970's & 1980's
3 March 2012, 443 Oxford Street, Paddington, Tuesday - Saturday 10am - 6pm or by appointment

At the core of all Brett Whiteley's work was an exceptional facility with draftsmanship. The artist was capable of capturing within the sweep of a few brief lines and brush strokes, the poetic beauty of the Australian landscape. In his own words "To draw on the beach with a sharp stick, and let the waves come up and erase it is a wonderful way of learning how to draw economically...with verve". (Quote from Brett Whiteley Recent Nudes' catalogue, Oct 1981).

This exhibition brings together a number of magnificent works on paper which exemplify the artist's extraordinary ability to capture the very essence of his wide ranging subject matter. Including Essential Landscapes, Palm Trees, Willows and Monieon Bay Flats, together with exquisite observations of Australian bird life.

Sydney Ideas - The Culture of Surveillance: Who's watching whom, now?
Has 'being watched' simply become part of modern society? Or do you resist the constant surveillance on streets and buildings, and that is wirelessly present in smart phones and the internet? As surveillance is democratised for mass participation through social media, what are the implications?

BETH is a Consultant who joined Bain in 2009 after graduating from the UNSW with a Bachelor of Engineering (Aerospace)

Joining Bain meant that I could gain unparalleled grounding and in-depth exposure to a world-class, international portfolio of industries, capability areas, clients and talented colleagues. A few months in and I'm on an international assignment, and am challenged daily to develop my portfolio of skills - Associate Consultants are definitely given high levels of responsibility as we advise on impactful corporate decisions. Expect to feel highly supported - for me - that's my motivating case team, nurturing mentors, fun starting class and regular, practical training regime.

Working at Bain has allowed me to use all the skills (and many more) developed in engineering without the limitation of having to work purely with engineers! I work with people from all backgrounds and industries in an ever changing landscape.

At Bain, thinking outside of the square to solve complex business problems happens daily. You then work with a fantastic team to ensure these solutions are put in place, and not just left on a shelf to gather dust. Being able to witness the impact of your own solutions is very exciting!

go clubbing with UNSW Cheerleading Society

You might see them around campus and think there's a costume party happening. No, UNSW really does have Cheerleaders. Blizz caught up with Oilly and Megan from the State and National Championship winning UNSW Cheerleading Society to talk spirit, trophies and quarterbacks.

Introducing the UNSW Warriors: We compete in dance divisions as well as cheer. Our teammates train hard every week, because we all know a pyramid is only as strong as the individual, to be able to pull off what we do on the floor. From group stunts to pom motions to dance tricks and back flips, we do it all and it pays off.

Bring it on! Last year our Cheer team were awarded State Champions, and also placed 3rd at the AASCF Cheer and Dance Nationals in Brisbane. We also took out State Champions in Pom, National Champions in Hip Hop and Jazz. 1st place in Open Dance, Highest Scoring University Routine overall, AND made a Bid to compete at the University Dance Worlds at Disneyworld, Florida!

Go buy some pom poms: 2012 is looking to be just as exciting!

For more info on joining a team, or just to keep up to date with your UNSW Warriors, hit up facebook.com/UNSWCheerleadingSociety.

Compare the stereotype cheerleader to the actual cheerleader in your squad?
The stereotypical Australian cheerleader would be the NRL cheerleaders with boobs and gogo boots. A UNSW cheerleader is an athlete who can stunt, flip, dance, jump, and perform.

Has anyone gone on to cheer professionally?
This year a few of our members will be cheering for the West Tigers and some of our members have even competed in America at the Cheerleading and Dance World Championships!

Any injury horror stories?
As with any sport there are always going to be injuries, especially when we are throwing people into the air. We've seen torn muscles to broken bones and we've even had a girl in our squad dislocate her knee.

Do you guys have "Cheer Camp" or "Cheer Holidays"?
Yes, there are cheer camps and spirit sticks do exist! We also have away trips for competitions and Nationals were in Brisbane last year.

What music do you cheer to?
If you've ever heard a cheer mix, they're remixes on crack!

What courses are you guys studying?
Everything! From Arts to Engineering, Design, Medicine, Law and Education.

Has anyone ever slept with a quarterback?
Does anyone even know a quarterback? WHERE ARE THEY HIDING?

ARE YOU FIRED UP?

From group stunts to pom motions to dance tricks and back flips we do it all and it pays off!

• Henry Cornwell & Jacob Burkett

ANTONIA SHUTTLEWORTH
Blitz Editor/Juris Doctor

Interests: Anything that can be done from bed - reading, movies, making lists, online shopping.
Likes & Dislikes of UNSW: I like being able to make my timetable from bed. I dislike that my student ID photo always looks like crap.
What I wanted to be when I was little: I wanted to be a mermaid until I realised that Ariel was a bitch.

KATY KENNETT
Blitz Designer/Design/Art Education

Interests: Escaping Sydney's grasps and skipping home to have a ride on my horse and read a book by the pool.
Likes & Dislikes of UNSW: Love: college. Don't love: dino food. Love: The Whitehouse. Don't love: Ibis. Love: Oktoberfest. Don't love: lines.
What I wanted to be when I was little: A Vet. Ah, a pipe dream. My lack of aptitude for anything equation related was a slight hindrance.

JACOB BURKETT
Blitz Reporter/Arts in Film Studies and Creative Writing

Interests: I enjoy football (the round ball type of course), The Strokes, Kings of Leon and of course informing my allegiance of fans of what movies and bands are worth their while.
Likes and dislikes of UNSW: Love the Whitehouse, Roundhouse and Blockhouse, apparently anything ending in house. Cheap drinks, great music and crazy parties so what's not to like.
What I wanted to be when I was little: Some sort of superhero gig was always on mind.

HENRY CORNWELL
Blitz Reporter/Arts/Law

Likes and Dislikes of UNSW: I like the people and the classes, but I'm not so keen on the campus security.
What I wanted to be when I was little: An engineer. But unfortunately I don't understand maths so I'm gonna have to think of something else.
Interests: Bicycles, music, books, leisure, etc.

MATTHEW KANG
Engineering

How do you compare your first day at uni to your first day of kindergarten? I really miss nap time... but you can always nap in lectures.
What happened to your high school friends? Some of them I stay in touch with. Some who I didn't really know in high school I got closer to.
How do you go about making new friends? There'll be a lot of people in your course. You already have a lot in common so go down to the Roundhouse and have a beer.

TALLULAH TROTT
Philosophy

Do you attend your 9am lectures? I always start off at the beginning of the term being like, "Yes, I'm gonna attend 9am lectures." And by the end I rock up half way through. Now I do seminars and when they see me I have to awkwardly apologise but I do it anyway.
How do you compare your first day at uni to your first day of kindergarten? I'm pretty sure they were both terrifying and a full-on sensory overload so I'm gonna say they were pretty similar.
