

JACQUELINE PRICE

Hi, my name is Jac and I'm a second year Politics, Philosophy and Economics student running for Arc Board in 2021. I'm eager to create tangible changes to improve UNSW's inclusivity on campus as now more than ever I see the importance of a strong and welcoming student life on campus.

After experiencing my first year of university predominantly at home due to COVID, I understand the importance of an active student life. It is therefore a priority of mine to create the best university experience possible through increasing engagement with clubs and campus opportunities.

I have been fortunate enough to currently hold an executive role in one of UNSW's clubs and through that have gained experience in fostering inclusive environments for students and creating a space where students can celebrate diversity. Students deserve to have their voices heard, and I aim to drive this change through Arc Board.

UNSW Student Life

Q&A

WHAT IS YOUR VISION FOR ARC?

As most of us return back to some degree of normality this year, never has it been more important for the diverse interests of the student body to be fairly represented. It is therefore my vision that Arc acts as a body that continuously advocates and promotes the best interests of students. With the inclusion of student voices in decision-making, Arc has an important role to promote diversity and inclusivity through clubs, volunteering, or events. I want to create a network where students can feel confident in finding adequate support services that can contribute to an overall improvement in student wellbeing.

WHY IS IT IMPORTANT TO BE A STUDENT LEADER, AND WHAT DO YOU HOPE TO ACHIEVE BY BEING ON THE ARC BOARD?

It is an incredibly important and humbling experience being a student leader as it is an opportunity to create long-term, tangible changes to the student experience. In particular, I hope to further facilitate student engagement both online and on campus through fostering a sense of community within both these spaces - underscoring my larger goal of creating an inclusive and welcoming environment. I will also aim to increase the availability and accessibility of various support services to ensure there is adequate assistance for students learning remotely, overseas, or on campus, and include student voices in decision-making.

WHY IS ARC IMPORTANT TO YOU?

In the time I've been at UNSW, Arc has provided me with the opportunity to get involved in uni life. I have been able to participate in clubs and activities that I genuinely enjoy and through this have been able to meet new people and create new friendships. Essentially, Arc has been at the centre of my time at UNSW and I would love for other students to share a similar experience. Whether you're a first year or writing a PHD, I think it's incredibly important for Arc to continue delivering policies and programs that support the best student experience for all.
