Welcome to Mosaic Mentoring 2018

Mosaic Mentoring, previously known as Mosaic Fusion Forums, is an Arc@UNSW volunteering program which facilitates the exploration of social issues and encourages proactive community interaction. Run in partnership with high schools and English Intensive Centres across the Sydney area, Mosaic Mentoring provides a platform for UNSW volunteers and high school students to get thinking about global issues, cultural diversity and community identity through several workshops.

The overarching theme of Mosaic is 'Respect'. Volunteers develop activities that focus on one or more of the following eight forms of diversity and their related issues;

These topics are rich in possibilities for discussion, each with a number of related social issues such as discrimination or inequality. Students encounter these issues in the media as well as their everyday lives, and Mosaic creates a safe space to help them develop their awareness and voice on these matters.

The program kicks off in August with Forum Day, when students and their teachers come to UNSW for a day of activity and discussion lead by a group of trained student volunteers. The day is based on exploring the issues above in a dynamic and engaging way.

Following Forum Day, students return to their schools and are tasked with completing a major work, promoting self-expression and allowing them to communicate their understanding and perspectives on the issues discussed at Forum Day. Throughout this time, the UNSW student volunteers undertake regular school visits (at a time and weekday determined in agreement with the schools) to assist with these major works.

The program culminates in the Expo Night, where students present their works to their peers, as well as to their teachers and parents.

Mosaic Mentoring is designed to be accessible to high school students from years 7-12, and so schools are able to determine which year group(s) will be involved. It accommodates roughly 10-30 students from each participating school.

Forum Day

The aim of Forum Day is to get students thinking and talking about the subject matter of the Mosaic program, namely; social and cultural diversity. Forum Day activities are designed and run by Arc volunteers with the express purpose of engaging students, giving them a voice, autonomy, and the chance to express themselves. In previous years, these activities have included debates and discussions, arts and crafts, games and competitions – generally, anything that's engaging, educational, and fun! Forum Day is also a great opportunity to introduce students to the university environment, encouraging them to aspire for tertiary education.

Major Works

Following discussions and workshops on Forum Day, students return to school and are asked to complete a major work - either as a group or individually - under the guidance of their teachers and with the aid of school visits by Arc volunteers. These major works can be of any medium and allow students to explore and express their own understanding of the issues discussed.

Previously, issues explored by students in their major works have included; multiculturalism, freedom and global conflict, racism and discrimination, and bullying.

Mosaic has seen an interesting mix of submissions, ranging from fictional and non-fictional writing, to poetry, songs, performances, presentations, artworks, animations, videos, graphic design, and sculpture. Examples of major works from previous years are shown below.

School Visits

In between Forum Day and Expo Night, each school receives regular visits from their designated group of volunteers. In the past, surveys and feedback have shown that the schools with regular school visits get the most value out of the program.

Generally, school visits aim to help students with their major works, but further workshops, activities and/or games can be held on request. The timing of the visits is up to your school, and a group will be assigned to your school based on your preferences.

Expo Night

Mosaic Mentoring culminates in an annual Expo Night, a multimedia launch of major works and a celebration of your students' achievements throughout the year. This provides the opportunity for students to showcase their works, be it a performance or a written submission, and to view the works of others. It's an opportunity to thank all the schools, students and volunteers who help make the program what it is. Catering is provided and Certificates of Achievement are presented to all participating students at the end of the night.
